

Break God's Heart

by Ali Matthews (c) 2010

One ordinary moment
losing this foolish pride humbled for even just a moment casing my selfishness aside

Could I bring a simple kind of offering could I make a difference to this day enter in the heartaches of the suffering and sing with the sorrows of the slaves for I have eyes to see and I have ears to hear chorus

To be shaken, an awakening upon me To be taken to the very deepest part Promise spoken, just a token from within me until I'm broken by the things that break God's heart

Sinking in muddy water
No one could even see their pain Heaven cries for all our sons and daughters every tear is a drop of rain

Could I bring a simple kind of offering
could I make a difference to this day
enter in the heartaches of the suffering
and sing with the sorrows of the slaves
for I have eyes to see
and I have ears to hear

Repeat chorus

bridge

River flow inside me Holy tears of the Almighty repeat chorus twice

One ordinary moment
losing this foolish pride
